The screenshot shows a TechCrunch article from February 4, 2010. The article is titled "Huddle Takes Top Prize At Microsoft's SharePoint SocialFest" and is written by Jason Kincaid. It features two YouTube video embeds: one of an interview with Lynda Ting, Microsoft's Director of Business Development, and another of a Loqu8 application demonstration. The article text describes a competition where seven startups were invited to spend a week working with Microsoft SharePoint team members. The event culminated in a demo day on Friday, where each startup showed off what they'd managed to put together in the preceding four days and a panel of judges chose the best one.
